RE-ELECT SYMINGTON

Missourians face a crucial choice in their selection of a United States Senator in the Nov. 3 election. The course, pattern and effectiveness of their representation in the United States Senate will be determined when the voters can't win a military victory. The either return the Democratic incumbent, Stuart Kremlin, therefore, may be Symington, or reject him for Republican John C. preparing even now to disengage from South Vietnam and to Danforth.

Missourians are exceptionally fortunate at this time of moderate settlement. universal concern over America's destiny, locally, nationally and internationally, to have a choice between that the U.S. will lose influence two such distinguished and capable candidates. Senator Symington, who came to St. Louis in 1938 as president of the Emerson Electric Company to rescue it from a financial morass and debilitating labor problems, is admittedly one of the most distinguished, esteemed and knowledgeable members of the United States Senate. His stature in the Senate is excelled by few, if any, of his colleagues and he is known and respected throughout the world for his interest and vigorous personal participation in our nation's foreign affairs.

As he completes his third term in office and nearly 18 years of service in the Senate the respect of his colleagues is manifest in many ways but not the least in the top or near top positions which the senior Senator from Missouri holds on numerous Senate committees.

Realistically, whether one approves or disapproves of the seniority system in Congress, seniority in the Senate does significantly measure and practically affects a Senator's influence and ability to serve his constituents. Before a girl is married, she sees a hero in every man. Missourians have 18 years invested in Senator Symington.

Meanwhile, the junior senator from Missouri, Thomas F. Eagleton, is serving only the second year of his first term. perhaps it is my responsibility. Right now I'm confused. Please tell me what is right and what is wrong. Would a man want to marry a girl who has to take care of a blind brother for the rest of her life? Is this my moral responsibility? I need your advice. --- Inner Struggle

Dear I.S.: The responsibility for your blind brother should not fall on you. It is your parents' responsibility to see that he is educated and equipped to be responsible for himself You say your brother is 23, but you don't say if he is employed or what his educaiton as been. There are thousands of sightless people who are burdens to no one. They are highly successful and leading happy, productive lives. Your brother should be among them. If he is not, I urge you to write to: The Chicago Lighhouse for the Blind, 1850 West Roosevelt Road, Chicago, Ill. 60608 for information regarding the office nearest your home.

Dear Ann Landers: I am so mad at myself I can't speak to anyone about this. Please help me. I have been saving out of my household money and putting a few dollars away whenever I could. This was my private boodle for "emergencies." I had over $333 in the boodle which I kept in a coffee tin with the canned goods. Yesterday I took the money out to count it and the roll of bills fell on the gas range and caught fire. I ran for a towel to smother the flames and managed to save some of the money but most of it is badly charred. I scopped it all up and put it in a bowl. Now what should I do? It took me nearly two years to save this money and I am heartsick. --- Feeling Low Dear F.L.: Take the bowl of charred money to any bank. They will give you full value of any bill if more than half of it is intact. The charred money might be redeemable in full, also.

And let this be a lesson to you and to everyone else who reads this. Coffee tins are for coffee. Money belongs in banks. Dear Ann Landers: My problem is not as important as some you hear about but it bugs me a lot. My mother is past 40. She and Dad have been married 21 years. Mom has two big pictures of herself on the mantle over the fireplace in the living room. The pictures were taken before she was married so you can guess how old they are. Both pictures are old-fashioned (hairstyles funny) but she was rather pretty

YOUR NEWSPAPER CARRIERS!

He's the boy who lives just down the street from you; the boy who occasionally takes a short cut across your lawn. This is a boy with decent instincts.

His devotion to you, his customer, is best exemplified by the fact that no matter how severe the snow storm or uncomfortable the pelting hail and rain, no matter how bitter the cold and savage the wind, he trudges his route each day to bring the world to your door.

True, you pay him $1.95 a month, but you can't buy his faithfulness or his friendliness. He offers them freely!

Freshman and high school bands of Sikeston high school participated in the annual Band Festival Tuesday. Buses left school for Jackson at approximately 8:45.

High school band members and Tricia Huff, feature editors; and Red Peppers gathered on the football field Tuesday morning before the buses left to have a yearbook. This picture will be publications used for both of the natural -colored end sheets of the Growler.

Kicking off the festivities was parade of bands at 10:30. SHS Marching Bulldogs played "Westpoint March"; "Big Brass Comin"; and "The Red and the Black."

Band members were free until 1:30 when they met to practice for the mass band show

Twirlers and drum majorettes, numbering around 180, began practice at 1 o'clock.

Events of the evening started at 7 o'clock. Eight bands gave Sikeston high school band. About 1700 hand members formed an outline of Missouri with its new highway system "drawn" in. The theme of the show was safety on Missouri highways.

Music for the evening was "Our Director"; "Symbol of Honor"; "Flashing Brass"; "On the Street March"; and "The Star Spangled Banner."

From an area as far south as Portageville to Potosi in the north, 28 bands came to participate in the festival.

Today

In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Saturday, Oct. 10, the 283rd day of 1970. There are 82 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1911, Chinese revolutionaries under Dr. Sun Yat-sen overthrew the Manchu Dynasty. On this date:

In 680, the grandson of Mohammad, Husain, was murdered in Iraq.
In 1845, the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., was opened. In 1859 a civil war broke out in Argentina. In 1913, the waters of the Pacific and Atlantic oceans flowed together in the Panama Canal as the Gamboa Dam was

In 1938, Nazi Germany completed the occupation of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland. In 1943, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was sworn in as president of China.

Ten years ago — Concern was voiced in Washington over a cheaper process for producing atomic weapons which made efforts to control the atomic arms race more difficult.

Five years ago — U.S. paratroopers killed 46 Viet Cong near South Vietnam's capital, Saigon.

One year ago — Lt. Gen.
Lewis B. Hershey retired as director of the Selective Service System.

radical Weatherman faction, the Federal Aviation Administration has tightened the ring of security around the nation's airports.

An FAA spokesman in Washington said early today threats also had been made against other government installations, including military posts. The Defense Department and FBI declined comment.

An immediate result of the coast-to-coast threat was a closer check of persons and baggage entering most airports where, in recent days, security has been tightened because of a fear of hijackers. The precautionary bulletin also went to the airlines. Al Garvis, a public information officer at FAA erhaps it is my responsibility. Right now I'm confused. Please tell me what is right and what is wrong. Would a man want to marry a girl who has to take care of a blind brother for the rest of her life? Is this my moral responsibility? I need your advice. --- Inner Struggle

Dear I.S.: The responsibility for your blind brother should not fall on you. It is your parents' responsibility to see that he is educated and equipped to be responsible for himself.

You say your brother is 23, but you don't say if he is employed or what his education has been. There are thousands of sightless people who are burdens to no one. They are highly successful and leading happy, productive lives. Your brother should be among them. If he is not, I urge you to write to: The Chicago Lighhouse for the Blind, 1850 West Roosevelt Road, Chicago, Ill. 60608 for information regarding the office nearest your home.

Dear Ann Landers: I am so mad at myself I can't speak to anyone about this. Please help me. I have been saving out of my household money and putting a few dollars away whenever I could. This was my private boodle for "emergencies." I had over $333 in the boodle which I kept in a coffee tin with the canned goods. Yesterday I took the money out to count it and the roll of bills fell on the gas range and caught fire. I ran for a towel to smother the flames and managed to save some of the money but most of it is badly charred. I scopped it all up and put it in a bowl. Now what should I do? It took me nearly two years to save this money and I am heartsick. --- Feeling Low Dear F.L.: Take the bowl of charred money to any bank They will give you full value of any bill if more than half of it is intact. The charred money might be redeemable in full, also.

And let this be a lesson to you and to everyone else who reads this. Coffee tins are for coffee. Money belongs in banks. Dear Ann Landers: My problem is not as important as some you hear about but it bugs me a lot My mother is past 40. She and Dad have been married 21 years. Mom has two big pictures of herself on the mantle over the fireplace in the living room. The pictures were taken before she was married so you can guess how old they are. The Prayer from The Upper Room

For the moment all discipline seems painful rather pleasant; later it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness to hose who have been trained by it. (Hebrews 12:11, RSV)

PRAYER: Help us, O God, to realize that though our problems are painful to us, they are the spurs to growth. In seeking answers, we yield ourselves to Thee, shedding the narrow limits of self. Amen.

Fiji's Freedom

By Editorial Research Reports WASHINGTON — A group of 106 tiny South Pacafic islands occupied by half a million people, formerly known as the "Cannibal Isles," is to become the independent state of Fiji Saturday. When Captain Bligh sailed through the archipelago in a boat form he Bounty in 1789, he was chased by a canoe filled he was chased by a canoe filled with hungry natives. But in 1874 King Thakombau, their ruler, surrendered his war club (the "Blood-Bather"), and the islands themsleves to Queen Victoria. Thakombau said in handing over his club, which was the only known law in Fiji, that he was willing to adopt "the forms and principles of civilized societies.'

The islanders gave up such quaint customs as the live burial of court retainers under the posts of new houses, the launching of war canoes over the bodies of young girls, and feasting upon the remains of enemies. The peaceful period of colonial rule which began Oct. 10, 1874, is still reflected in the started to arrive almost hundred years ago to work in Fiji's sugarcane industry. The Indians soon started to multiply to the point where they now outnumber the original Fijians. Until very recently the ruling Legislative Council had been controlled by the Melanesians, but now a movement is under way to achieve equal representation for Indians before

A new and complex electoral system has been worked out, but there are still fears that the long-standing animosity between these two racial groups may erupt into violence when the British government is no longer there to keep Indian and Fijian at bay. For the moment, however, all the islanders are busy preparing a magnificent welcome for Prince Charles, who is flying over from England to ceremonially present the constitutional instruments which will make Fiji an independent member of the Commonwealth.
